

SAVED GOODS AS SMOKE ROLLED UP STAIRWAYS

Women in Twenty-two Families Risked Their Lives to Get Belongings.

IMPROVISED A BRIDGE.

One Woman Weighing 250 Went Over Ironing Board Carrying a Big Bundle.

The inclination of Italian tenement dwellers to save their belongings even at the risk of their lives in a fire caused a lot of trouble to firemen and policemen who were summoned to-day to a blaze in the cellar of the five-story house at No. 124 Cherry street. The fire did not extend above the first floor, but it produced great volumes of sitting smoke that spread through the upper hallways and rooms and made escape difficult and dangerous.

There are twenty-two families in the house. When the alarm was given the men were nearly all away at work and most of the children were at school. The first thought of the women was to rescue the household goods.

Some were fortunate.

They worked so long dragging out boxes and bedclothes and clothes that escape by the stairways was out of the question. The tenement flanking No. 124 on both sides are five stories high, and those who went out by the roof were able to climb to the adjoining houses.

Nocellina, Baltimore, occupying the rear flat on the second floor, a thirty-five year old and weighs about 250 pounds. When she heard the alarm of fire she packed up her possessions. This took so much time that she was unable to make her way to the stairway through the hall because of the smoke.

But she did not lose her self-possession. Stretching an ironing board from the window of her kitchen to a corresponding window in the house at No. 124, she balanced a big bundle on her head and made the journey over the frail bridge in safety. Two firemen worked for five minutes dragging her and her bundle through the window.

Ratherie, Italian, seventy years old, fell unconscious in the hall on the second floor under the weight of a wooden box about two feet square, which she said contained money, jewelry and papers. Fireman Russo, of Hook and Ladder No. 6, found her and carried her to the window, where a few whiffs of fresh air revived her.

Distressed Back After Box.

With surprising agility for one so old she dashed back into the smoke for the money box. When she returned she was rescued without the box, Russo had to carry her and her bundle over the cornice into the building next door.

Francisco, Guancani, sixty years old and blind, was seen to fall on the front of the second floor. In groping his way through the hall he was overcome by smoke. Policeman Dougherty stumbled across him and carried him to the street.

Here a dozen firemen were knocked out by the straining smoke in the cellar. It took half an hour to subdue the blaze, the origin of which is a mystery.

MEAN PARENT GETS LONG PRISON TERM

Michael O'Neill, a laborer, of No. 310 East One Hundred and Eighteenth street, was today sentenced to the penitentiary for eleven months and to pay a fine of $50 for failing to pay the city $1 a week for the support of his child, now in the Catholic Protectory. The sentence was imposed by Justice Mayo in the Court of Special Sessions.

This is the heaviest sentence ever imposed upon a parent for this offense. O'Neill, from the day the child was committed to the institution on June 15, 1906, has steadily refused to pay for its support. He was arrested last fall and spent ten months in jail.

Under his sentence O'Neill will have to stay in the penitentiary 85 days, or nearly two years and a half, provided the fine is not paid.

GETS TWELFTH TERM IN PRISON FOR STEALING

George Murphy Calmly Tells Court That Is the Only Business He Knows.

"Stealing," said George Murphy, in the Court of Special Sessions to-day, "is the only business I know. I never learned a trade, and when I am out of jail I can't get a job. It is a case of steal or die."

Murphy has served eleven terms in prison for theft, the terms ranging from one year to three years in length. He is fifty-two years old, white haired and almost blind. In the police records he is down as a man who makes a business of stealing packages from express wagons in front of stores while the drivers are inside making deliveries.

On Sept. 29 Murphy snatched a box of books valued at $1 from a United States Express Company wagon in front of No. 4 Warren street. If he had reached a few inches further he would have got a box of jewelry valued at $7,000. A policeman saw him and caught him. Arraigned to-day on a charge of petit larceny, Murphy pleaded guilty. He said he was getting used to the Court rounded out his terms of imprisonment to an even dozen by sending him up for eleven months and fining him $500. Before the fine was imposed Murphy will have been on Blackwell's Island for two and a half years.

KILLED BY ELECTRIC TRAIN.

Laverer Ran Over in New York Central Tunnel.

Lorenzo de Lucia, thirty-five years old, a laborer employed by the New York Central, was struck and killed by an electric train at Ninety-sixth street and Park avenue to-day.

South-bound electric car No. 422 in charge of Conductor P. Riley, hit the man, who was crossing the tracks. The death was entirely accidental and no arrest was made.

HOME MADE CURE FOR THE CATARRH

Tells How to Make a Simple Mixture at Home to Cure Catarrh Promptly.

The coming months will be a harvest for the makers of patent medicine manufacturers unless great care is taken to keep the feet dry, also dress warmly.

This is the advice of a well-known authority and should be heeded by all who are subject to rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles and especially catarrh. While the latter is considered by most sufferers an incurable disease, there are few men or women who will fail to experience great relief from the following simple home prescription, and if taken in time it will prevent an attack of catarrh during the entire season.

Here is the prescription which any one can mix: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Serravallo, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

These are mostly vegetable ingredients and such as are obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost.

The Compound Kargon in this prescription acts directly upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys to make them filter and strain from the blood the poisons that produce all forms of catarrhal affections. Relief is often felt even after the first few doses, and it is seldom that the sufferer experiences a return attack within the year.

This prescription makes a splendid remedy for all forms of blood disorders and such symptoms as lame back, bladder weaknesses and rheumatism pains are entirely dispelled.

As this valuable, though simple, recipe comes from a thoroughly reliable source, it should be heeded by every afflicted reader.
